

Rudbeckia hirta

Common Name: Black-Eyed Susan

This hallmark of prairies and meadows puts on an extravagant floral display. A biennial, it is easy to grow from seed. Plants bloom the year they are planted, and will self-sow onto open soil. Butterflies frequently visit this bright sunny flower.

Plant Details:

Rudbeckia hirta

Soil Type: Dry, Dry
Mesic, Mesic, Moist

Exposure: Full Sun

Bloom Period: June to September

General Information:

Mature Height: 1-3 Feet

Mature Width: 2 Feet

Butterfly Host: Yes

Flower Color: Yellow